

Duty Hours

A Deep Sea Pilot should not normally be engaged on the bridge for more than 12 hours in 24 hours. Deep Sea Pilots should take adequate rest periods between spells of pilotage and should reach agreement with the Master of the ship in advance regarding adequate rest periods to be taken during the passage. The appropriate pilotage authorities shall ensure that this is done to their satisfaction.